

Carpentier's Snappy Right Rocks Australian George Cook to Sleep in 4th Round

FRENCHMAN'S SPEED DAZZLES OPPONENT; COOK AN INFIGHTER

One-Two Punch to Jaw Is Fatal to Challenger for European Title; Cook on Knees at the End.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Georges Carpentier successfully defended his title as heavyweight champion of Europe here tonight by knocking out George Cook of Australia in the fourth round of a scheduled 20-round fight. A straight left to the chin and a right to the jaw floored Cook for the count. He was up on one knee when the referee, Jack Smith, finished the count of 10, but was too late. The weights were announced as Cook 189 and Carpentier 170 pounds.

Carp Takes Lead at Opening.
Carpentier took the offensive at the start. He had Cook swinging wildly and missing in the first minute of fighting. At the opening of the second round Carpentier landed a hard left. Cook fought cautiously, clearly showing he was afraid of Carpentier's deadly right hand. Cook missed repeatedly at long range fighting, but landed several hard blows in the clinches. The Australian had the best of it at first.

Carpentier became more aggressive with the opening of the third round. He dazed Cook with his lightning footwork. Cook continued to fight cautiously and avoided giving the Frenchman any chance to land his right. As the third round ended Carpentier was feeling the fight and Cook was steadily giving ground. The fourth round was Carpentier's by a wide margin. Cook landed lightly on Carpentier's jaw just as the bell rang. The Frenchman smiled and danced away to his corner.

Cook Best at Close Range.
Cook pressed the infighting at the start of the fourth round. After a minute's fighting Carpentier caught the Australian flush on the jaw with a hard right and shook him up badly. Carpentier saw that he had his man weakening and forced the fighting, landing a vicious left uppercut on the point of the jaw and a second later bringing his right to the same point. Cook went down in a heap and was counted out.

Carpentier's deadly right hand ended the battle. After a minute's fighting in the fourth round, he connected it to the jaw, dazing Cook. A moment later he landed a left uppercut and a right swing to the jaw and the Australian went down and out.

Champ Dempsey 'T. H. S. to Play May Tour Europe and Meet 'em All

BY FANE NORTON.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 12.—Don't be at all surprised if Champion Jack Dempsey, who is now in Los Angeles, makes a European tour and takes on all comers on the other side of the pond.

Jack Kearns, manager and pal of the champion, has the idea of a European tour in his head and when the Dempsey-Kearns outfit grab off an idea they usually go through with it.

Scarcity of opponents for Dempsey in America is what started Kearns thinking of visiting Europe and he has visions of pulling down considerable money at the same time and seeing the country as well.

"A pleasure trip through Europe taking on all comers would be a lark for Dempsey," said Kearns today. "He would go over with the idea of taking on any fighter promoters wanted to send against the champion. Every European I'll fighter would be in the setup class, venture that we could grab a hardier Wells and Joe Beckett in England."

"Remember when Tommy Burns went over to Europe and knocked every heavyweight for a goal?" asked the champion. "Well, there ought to be another crop of them ready for the cleaners by this time. I get a great kick out of fighting often and if Kearns says the word, we will be on our way."

Maybe this fellow Cook, the Australian who boxes Carpentier today, is the goods, and perhaps the Frenchman would like another chance. If he wants it in his own home town, he can have it.

WILSON BROKE, NEEDS TO FIGHT, ASKS A CHANCE

N. Y. Commission Agrees to Hear Middleweight Next Week

By JACK VEEOCK.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, will be given a chance to square his head with boxing officialdom next week.

The New York state boxing commission which suspended Wilson for refusing to carry out a contract to box Harry Green in Madison Square Garden, has consented to hear Wilson's case next Tuesday, it was announced today.

That Wilson will do everything he can to lose the suspended against him filed by the New York commission is a foregone conclusion, for as long as it stands he will be unable to box in six states where the game now flourishes. These states are New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Minnesota, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Promoter Tex Rickard stands ready to match Wilson with any legitimate middleweight contender, even though the Charlestown newspaper did run out on him.

But Rickard is not so sure the best middleweight available providing he will assure me that there will be no more monkey business," said Rickard today. "I am not going out of my way to get a row. I'll have to come to Rickard."

"If the New York boxing commission lifts the suspension from Wilson other state commissions will do likewise and in this event, business should begin picking up. Wilson, is said, needs several fights, as is hard up for cash and this despite the fact that he has earned quite a bit of money in the ring. It is whispered that the middleweight title holder lost his bankroll in speculation and must now come forward and defend his title to make all ends meet."

Over the Hill, Most Powerful of All Modern Motion Picture Dramas, Comes to Rialto Theater Sunday, Jan. 15

The Mother - Mary Carr - and her children in "Over the Hill" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

One of the great epoch-making photoplays of many years is the beautiful William Fox production of mother love entitled "Over the Hill," which will be seen at the Rialto theater, beginning Sunday.

Founded upon the famous poem by Will Carleton, this simple story of the devotion of a mother for her children in spite of the trials and tribulations to which they subject her is one of the most appealing and lovable stories ever screened.

Staged under the direction of Harry Millard, it has relied for its great strength with the public upon the simple theme and plain story of a mother and her family which she carefully rears and protects.

There is no suggestion of big dramatic scenes, no spectacular effects, no crowd-pleasing stunts, but the simple, thrilling and powerful story that touches the heart of all humanity and brings everyone to realize the love and affection with which a mother's memory should always be revered.

Produced in New York by William Fox in September of 1920 without ostentation, without undue exploitation, without any furor or newspaper fireworks, the fame of the simple and beautiful picture, "Over the Hill" spread like wildfire. All who saw it went hundreds of their friends. Newspapers hailed it as one of the great and crowning artistic triumphs of the motion picture world. Clergymen preached sermons about it. Editors wrote editorials advising every mother's son and daughter to see "Over the Hill."

9-HOLE PUBLIC GOLF COURSE POSSIBLE IF PARK SITE IS GIVEN

Athletic Commission of 18 to Meet City Council Today and Petition Body to Set Aside 40-Acre Waterworks Tract on Sand Springs Line for Municipal Athletic Plant—Confident of Success.

By B. A. BRIDGEWATER.
The Amateur Athletic commission of 18 this morning will formally petition the city government to set aside the 40-acre city-owned tract west of the waterworks on the Sand Springs paved road and international for use as a municipal amateur athletic plant.

Every member of the city commission save one has been approached informally on the subject, and not a single objection to the plan has developed, and there appears every reason to believe that at the meeting this morning the city will take the step necessary to make Tulsa stand head and shoulders above all other southwestern communities in amateur sports.

Arrangements for the meeting between the athletic board and the city commissioners were perfected yesterday by Norman B. Snyder, special representative of the athletic body.

A Golf Course Possible.
Not only would it mean the establishment of a fine athletic field with a baseball diamond, a half-mile boxing ring, tennis courts, tennis courts, a thoroughly equipped gymnasium, a swimming pool, a tennis court, a thoroughly equipped athletic facility, but, if the 40-acre tract is made available for an athletic park, it will put within reach another public accommodation long sought by Tulsa people—a free golf course.

Right here we strike a popular chord. A bustling young city made up of perhaps more of young men and young women than any other of its size in the whole country, Tulsa, figuratively speaking, takes to sport like a duck takes to water. Golf is growing in public favor more rapidly than any other game, and there are hundreds of men, and women in Tulsa who would love to learn the game if they only had a chance. A man gets a lot of enjoyment out of seeing a baseball game and a woman gets a lot of enjoyment out of seeing a tennis match, but it is a detached interest at that. He gets a whole lot more actual pleasure out of a game that he actually plays himself like golf or tennis.

The Plan Is Feasible.
Those who have carefully gone over the proposed site believe it would easily be feasible to construct a nine-hole course there. It would have to cross the paved road, but that would make a nice hazard. Bunkers and ditches could be provided as hazards where needed.

Some of the hundreds of Tulsa are members of the two country clubs, which have excellent golf facilities. But this is somewhat an expensive proposition and entirely out of reach of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen, who, in spite of their modest purse, would enjoy golf fully as much as do the clubbers and thousands more fortunate, like S. M. McCloskey, for instance, who have their own private courses.

The Greatest Single Feature.
In the waterworks tract a free golf course would be the greatest single feature of the proposed municipal athletic plant—a greater thing even than the half-mile race track, the
